

WELCH DEPARTMENT STORES COMING HERE

Three-Story Building Bought On Main Street To Be Made Home For Successful Business

Perhaps the most important business transaction in Richmond in many years was consummated here Monday when the Welch Department Stores, of Berea, bought the Collins building on West Main street occupied by W. Neale Bennett's furniture and undertaking establishment. The sale was made by Col. N. B. Deatherage as trustee of the property of S. N. Moberly.

Possession of the building, which is a large brick, three-story affair, will be given January 1st, 1920, at which time Mr. Bennett's lease expires. At that time a new and modern front will be built, steam heat installed, and the entire building remodeled to make it suitable for the modern department store which will have its home here. Mr. John W. Welch of Berea, was here Monday, concluding negotiations for the purchase of this property. He was congratulated on all sides upon securing such a desirable and attractive location. No mention has been made of the price, but it is said to have been around $20,000. The Welch Stores at Berea will continue along the same lines as in the past, of course.

The coming of Welch's Department Stores to Richmond will mark a decided epoch in the business life of this city and community. Conducted along modern progressive ideas, the success of these stores at Berea has been tremendous. To their young proprietor, as well as to their founder, his late father, is due the major portion of the credit for the success that has been attained.

Buying in immense volume and selling at the lowest margin, the Welch Department Stores have commanded a patronage, which extends far beyond the confines of Madison and adjoining counties. There is probably no business in this part of the state outside the cities, whose advertising even approaches the magnitude and extent of that done by this establishment and to the publicity which it gives to the bargains it offers, a large portion of the credit for its tremendous success is ascribed.

The coming of Welch's to Richmond means big things in a business way for this splendid little city and is but another portentous augury of the many good things which are in store for it and its people.

AMERICANS SAVED RUSS PRISONERS IN GERMANY

Paris July 18.—Half a million Russians in Germany who formerly were prisoners of war have been lifted out of despondency within the last four months, partly by a course of training in American ideals, American sports and American spirit, said Major James A. Babbitt, of Philadelphia, when he returned recently from Germany on his way to the United States.

Major Babbitt is a professor in Haverford College and a member of the American Football Rules Committee. He was chief of the Bureau of Medical and Surgical Relief for the American Red Cross in Germany and visited nearly all the camps where Russian prisoners were interned. "We found the Russian war prisoners in a state of complete lassitude, mentally and physically," he said. "They had spent four years in the neglect and misery of German internment camps. It was enough to break a strong man's spirit. Their own country had forgotten them and no word had come from their relatives and friends. There was no future in Germany nor hope of anything better in their own country. Hundreds of thousands of Russians who had fought valiantly for the allied cause were slowly dying from depression, mental inactivity and physical malnutrition."

"We put them to school like children. Athletic games were introduced into the camps and these stimulated the prisoners physically while motion pictures and other mental recreations brightened their dull hours. Their hospitals were provided with every needed medical and surgical requisite. The camps were organized under the command of the American army personnel. They began to take on a new physical aspect and the men showed signs of returning life and courage. Although they at first regarded us with suspicion, this was soon changed and they looked upon us as friends. They formed committees which brought all their needs, grievances and fears to our attention."

RACE RIOTING ALARMS CAPITAL

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 22—Another night of race rioting found the national capital today counting largest casualty list since soldiers sailors and civilians began retaliation on negroes for the long list of daylight holdups and attacks on white women, which has alarmed the city. Four known dead, two mortally wounded, eight more or less seriously wounded and an unknown number injured in the fighting and the police stations and hospitals packed with others, are the results of the most disorderly times since the Civil War.

Today the authorities are conferring with the War Department on measures to stop the rioting. It is suggested that troops be brought to thoroughly guard the city.

The first police report today showed negroes had assaulted and injured another white woman at Capitol Heights. The woman was practically disrobed. Her assailant escaped. She is the seventh victim of negroes in two weeks.

Soon after noon an official estimate of the victims of last night's rioting stood at five dead, 10 expected to die, and scores lesser wounded and cases of 175 docketed in police courts. The stores today ceased selling firearms.

Washington, July 22—Congress was asked to take notice of the race riots and crime wave in the national capital today and President Wilson was asked to declare martial law and police the city with troops, in resolutions introduced by Representative Clark, of Florida, and Vaile, of Colorado.

"WOMAN IN BLACK" FOUND AT FT. THOMAS

Cincinnati, July 22—Interviews by detectives with a male relative of the Fischer family, who is said to be familiar with grave digging, and an admission by a woman, suspected of being the "mysterious woman in black," who also is a relative of the stricken family, that she was at the cemetery Thursday several hours before ghouls disinterred the body of pretty 15-year-old Clara Fischer, daughter of Anton Fischer, of Newport, Ky., from its grave in St. Stephen's cemetery, on the Alexandria pike, near Fort Thomas, were developments yesterday in the mystery which envelops one of the most gruesome crimes in the annals of Kentucky. The woman claimed to have been visiting the grave of an uncle.

Another clue which detectives hope may aid in solution of the mystery was furnished by Wm. Schoulties, a farmer who lives on the road more than a mile from Alexandria pike.

Schoulties reported he had seen two men whose clothes were covered with fresh clay sitting beside Three-Mile Creek road, 400 feet from the cemetery, at 4:30 o'clock on the morning the grave was opened.

Trustees of the cemetery met to discuss the advisability of exhuming the body for examination by physicians as to the mistreatment to which it was subjected. Mrs. Fischer is said to have insisted that the body be exhumed, and the family also desires that the rites of the church be said a second time over the grave of their daughter.

Detectives said the relative interviewed had been employed as a grave digger. They stated he admitted he had attended the wake of the Fischer girl, but denied any further knowledge of the event of the night when the body was raised from the grave.

Hunter Conder, a farmer residing on Dutchman's Creek, in Spencer county, was shot and killed. Conder was in bed at his home when the shot was fired.

Hon. Thos. P. Reed, formerly representative from Boyle county and a well known farmer, has bought half interest in the Danville Messenger.

Mrs. Chester Green has accepted the agency for the Lexington Herald. For any information call 540.

Drastic Dry Bill Enacted

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 22—The prohibition enforcement bill, described by members opposing it as drastic enough to invite Presidential veto, was finally passed by the House today. A motion to recommit the bill was previously defeated, 255 to 136. The bill itself passed 287 to 101. The bill was adopted, section by section, by the House, but a man's right to store liquor in his home, stood up against all attacks. On the final count, only three votes were recorded in favor of an amendment to make home possession of intoxicants unlawful.

CANDIDATES MEET IN DEBATE AT MAYFIELD

Mayfield, Ky., July 21.—The William Tye letter, alleged Judge Carroll's failure to support William Goebel as the Democratic nominee for governor in 1899, furnished the principal vehicles for discussion in the joint debate held at Mayfield Monday by the two Democratic candidates for the gubernatorial nomination both speakers taking up much of his time in discussing these matters.

About 700 voters heard the speakers and Governor Black appeared to have the best of it from the standpoint of applause. A large number of Black supporters from First District counties were present. The governor was introduced by J. T. Daugherty, a Confederate veteran. Judge Bunk Gardner introduced Judge Carroll.

Judge Carroll led off in an hour and a half speech. He reiterated the charge that Governor Black had discredited himself for the high office of governor by writing the letter to the L. & N. R. R. asking a pass for a man (whose relatives and friends are influential and frequently called for jury service in Knox County.)

Judge Carroll did not touch upon the textbook question except to deny that he had shirked his duty in failing to be on the bench when the case was decided by the Court of Appeals. He said he had quit the bench when he first became a candidate and long before the school-book case was before the lower courts. Judge Carroll discussed at length proposed changes in the tax laws. Judge Carroll charged that Black had taken possession of Stanley's appointees and they had possession of him. He favored elimination of many unnecessary offices, the principal business of the holders being to build political fences for their chief.

Governor Black devoted forty-five minutes to his defense to the Tye letter, declaring that he wrote the letter as an accommodation for a friend and defied any one to show that he had ever attempted to "tamper" with juries or in any way influence them except in open debate. The governor attacked Judge Carroll's record as a Democratic voter and his failure to support Goebel. Black opposed Judge Carroll's taxing scheme.

The governor denied that all the unnecessary officeholders were his supporters, and suggested the names of Herbert Carr, of Fulton; Henry Hines and Eli Brown. The latter he termed the "oldest politician in the state."

In his rejoinder Judge Carroll, at the insistence of his friends, gave as his reason for not supporting Goebel that it was "a family matter."

EASTERN WELCOMES RETURNED SOLDIERS

The returned soldiers and sailors connected with and attending the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School were entertained by the school Saturday evening with a splendid supper at Sullivan Hall and were later guests of honor at the Saturday evening games in the gymnasium.

Mrs. M. A. Lynn, familiarly called "Mother Lynn" by all the boys and girls on the campus, personally prepared the splendid supper that the men enjoyed so thoroughly. The students passed into the dining room first and were standing at their places when the men in uniforms marched to tables especially prepared and decorated in colors, red, white and blue. The men were greeted with loud cheers. After several minutes of cheering the Hall became quiet and for Grace the entire body sang "God Save Our Splendid Men." President Coates presided over the table and called upon F. G. Gentry at the close of the meal for a few words. Mr. Gentry responded with a few appropriate remarks. The men then adjourned to the library of Sullivan Hall where they unanimously gave thanks to those instrumental in preparing the reception.

At seven-thirty the student body assembled at the gymnasium to witness a class demonstration by the Physical Education Department in charge of Miss Mary Ann McMillan and to participate in the usual games that are held each Saturday in the gym. After the demonstration soldiers and sailors formed a receiving line headed by President Coates and Mrs. Mary B. Deane and were introduced to each student present. Refreshments were served and the occasion enjoyed by every one.

The following men were guests of honor: J. O. Compton, J. J. Asher, R. W. Harman, Lovel Liles, A. C. Bruner, John Boothe, L. H. Mills, Riffie Taylor, H. K. Donnelly, Henry Holbrook, Ivan McDougle, F. C. Gentry, N. M. Hill, C. A. Morris, Myers Coates, Sam Richardson, and H. A. Hensley.

BECKHAM EXPLAINS SHANTUNG MATTER

Senator Beckham, of Kentucky, discussed the Shantung question logically and incontrovertibly in his address on the peace treaty and League of Nations in the senate Monday. His speech continued from Monday went on to say:

Surely, Mr. President, if there ever was a time, that time is now, if there ever was a question, that question is this, when each Senator should divest himself of every prejudice of any kind and rise to the plane of that broad Americanism and statesmanship, look at this great subject with unclouded vision, and with a heart and mind so free that only the real merit of the document will be considered; not personality of anyone responsible for its production. Let us remember that it is the measure, and not the man, that we consider. Let us be constantly reminded that we are dealing with a question of world-wide importance, a question touching the peace and welfare not only of our country, but of the other nations of the earth, and let us not descend into the mire to play a miserable and disgraceful game for political advantage or personal pique.

It has developed, Mr. President, recently that the opponents of the league have seized upon the disposition of the Shantung Peninsula by the treaty as one of their strongest points of objection to the ratification of the treaty. We have heard it discussed lately a number of times upon the floor of the Senate and elsewhere in the country. Opponents of the league have directed some of their heaviest fire at this provision, and in some instances it has been given as a reason to justify the defeat of the treaty. This, it seems to me, is one of the shallowest arguments yet advanced by the opposition. It is one, however, that appeals to sentiment and to the imagination, and the opponents of the league have not failed to play upon that feature of it and to exaggerate its importance in relation to the multitude of far more vital problems which this treaty undertakes to settle.

The Shantung Peninsula, with its ports, as we all know, was in the possession of Germany, and had been since 1897, when Germany seized it by force from China. That seizure was wrong, as all admit, but it was acquiesced in by the other nations of the world. It is not for us at this time to enter into a discussion of that wrong. In the latter part of 1914, after Japan had entered the World War against Germany, she acquired this Province by force of arms from Germany and has held it since then. She has announced solemnly on several occasions that it is her purpose to restore the Province to China, and has pledged her faith and honor as a nation to do so. I am one of those who believe that she will keep her promise not only as an act of national good faith, but also in view of the fact that with so much attention drawn to this question her honor as a nation would be forever so tarnished in the eyes of the world if she failed to do so that she would suffer irreparable injury. It is, I believe, unfair, as it is certainly indiscreet, for Senators upon this floor to attack her good faith before she has broken it or has been given sufficient opportunity to fulfill her promise and obligation.

But it is not my purpose, Mr. President, to discuss all of the features of this question. I have referred to it and briefly recited some of the facts in regard to it in order to call particular attention to one view of the subject which I have not yet heard discussed upon the floor, but which seems to me to be one that deserves the most serious consideration in justice to Japan's position. Senators have criticized the peace conference, and particularly our representatives there, in not demanding that Japan should surrender that Province immediately upon her promise to restore it to China. Have Senators thought what this meant to Japan, whose people are so sensitive, and who already felt aggrieved at the refusal of the conference to place in the treaty some provision on the race question?

Japan met her allies in that conference as an equal, as one who had taken part in the war with them, and as one of the five great powers which practically dictated and controlled the terms of peace. She had acquired territory from Germany by conquest; so had England; so had France; and Italy had acquired territory from Austria. Was there a reason why Japan alone of all the Allies should be singled out and compelled by the terms of peace to surrender immediately territory which she had acquired when her other allies were not asked to be subjected to such treaty stipulations? In effect, Mr. President, such an insistence by the other allies upon Japan to surrender Shantung Province by a provision in the treaty of peace would have meant this: "We, the representatives of the allied and associated Governments in this peace conference, although you have been one of our allies in the prosecution of the war, do not trust you; and notwithstanding that you have given your solemn word that it is your purpose in due time to surrender this Province to China, we demand that it be now stipulated in this treaty and definitely fixed as to terms and time."

If such had been done, Mr. President, it would have been the only case of the kind in this treaty. I for one do not believe that Japan, even if it might have been her intention and wish to surrender that province to China the next day, could have agreed to such a provision without a sacrifice of her self-respect and an aspersion being cast upon her national honor. That was one of the most difficult problems before the peace conference, and one which, I believe they treated in the only way possible for the present. We must in this case rely upon the future for its proper and honorable settlement.

The position of Japan on this question is well illustrated in a statement given out by Baron Makino, one of the Japanese peace delegates at Paris on April 30, 1919 in which he said: "We are accused of intending to occupy Kichow permanently. That is incorrect. We have agreed to restore it to China. Our agreements will hold—our agreements always hold. There is no example in history of Japan breaking her word. It is just nobody has the right to doubt our honor that we ourselves should be allowed to arrange restitution and not be compelled in a way that would indicate unjust suspicion." From now on international law and justice will stand upon a higher plane than ever before, especially if this league of nations is adopted. Many serious and grave issues which in the past were settled only by armed conflicts will be settled hereafter by a sense of fair dealing and right. A nation guilty of dishonor, or of a broken promise will not be able, in the future to stand before the rest of the world in the glare of its just condemnation. It is impossible that this treaty, the most comprehensive in all of the history of the world, should not have in it here and there some article or adjustment which does not square with the strict principles of equity and justice. No one can claim that it is perfect. But anyone makes a serious mistake if he seizes upon imperfection in it as a reason to defeat the whole treaty. I think that under all of the circumstances the peace conference did the best it could in regard to the Shantung issue, and I can not believe that even if a mistake was made it is sufficient to justify a single vote against the ratification of the treaty. Let Japan be given the opportunity to make good her promise to right the wrong, originally committed by Germany, before we undertake this severe and improper criticism of her.

Constipation Results When Hot Weather Stops Exercise

WHEN the system has become accustomed to a certain daily routine of exercise and food, health is quick to suffer if that routine is interfered with. The bowels are first to notice the change.

Different water is enough to cause changes of food when traveling, sitting by those accustomed to long walks will do it. It is especially true that elderly people (those that routine quickly become constipated. Yet few people should be particularly careful to keep their bowels open, especially during the hot season.

A better remedy for this purpose can be found on a druggist's shelf than Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin which trains the stomach-muscles to do their work naturally so that medicines can be dispensed with. Only a small dose is needed, and unlike harsh physics and cathartics, it acts gently and without griping.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter the family size, or a free trial bottle will be sent on receipt of your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 460 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

TERIBLY SWOLLEN

Swelling Described As Torture Relieved by Black Draught

Seaville, Ga. — Mrs. King Lee, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while living, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a two-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his swelling could only be described as torture.

I sent out bought Theodore's Black Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he knew, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to eat again. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodore's Black Draught. We will keep it handy for the day's work. NC-19

WHY DEMOCRATS SHOULD NOMINATE GOV. BLACK

(The Journal) by every man as a political, came very state races, always success of weighed long, situation be- present con- or governor. It want- influence directed for ceptable to are would al count. This paper D. Black ted above. to make ways easy, however as the as-few days later, and in same locality, this gentleman offered to lay a wager that Black would win over Morrow, if he was successful at the August primary. Not a man offered to take up.

The Interior Journal has no quarrel with Judge Carroll. He is a gentleman and it can and will support him in November if he should be nominated in August. We are looking for party success, however, before we are looking for anything else. It views the situation as a cold business man views a business proposition. It would have supported Judge Carroll for the nomination as quickly as Gov. Black if it had believed it the best policy. Gov. Black has demonstrated his ability as a lawyer. He has shown to the people of Kentucky that he can take care of himself on the stump, and most assuredly he has demonstrated by his prowess in the past that no man measures up to him when it comes to battling with Republican hosts of Kentucky. For these reasons the Interior Journal shall continue to give him its ardent and undivided support until the Democracy of Kentucky proves, as it will do on August 2nd, that our judgment of this man has not been at fault.

Black's Nomination Ends Machine Rule

(Shelby Record Editorial)
Thousands upon thousands of Kentucky Democrats have said they are in favor of the people and not the machine politicians ruling in Kentucky, and the prospects for their wishes coming true are most excellent. If Governor Black is nominated and elected, there will be an end to machine rule, for all of the active politicians, those who are recognized as "machine men," manipulators of elections, and assistant to the administration in the distribution of offices and patronage are in the Carroll camp.

Let us see if this is true. Where are Eli Brown, Mills Logan, Billy Klair, Dan O'Sullivan, Tom Combs, Jim Edwards, Frank Peak, Henry Hines, Lawrence Reichart, manager of the beer trust, and others who have been known for their political activities? Every God's blessed one of them in the Carroll camp. Now let some one name those who are for Governor Black.

In addition to this, the Courier Journal and Times, both of which are drifting rapidly toward Republicanism, and the Louisville Post, of whose democracy there has always been a doubt, are all against Governor Black in his race for the nomination. But all of their work will amount to nothing, for "the people" have set their heads together, and are determined to elect the man they want, and need, and not have foisted upon them a man picked by the machine.

As to Judge Carroll's ability, as Judge and his reputation as a gentleman and man of honor, but he is handicapped by his following and like "old dog Tray" finds himself in bad company. The people want him for what he is best fitted. Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, but they don't want him for Governor. The Carroll men say their candidate is gaining every day, but down in their hearts they know they are traveling through the dark woods of doubt, and are only whistling to keep up their courage. The Black men are saying but little and are going along in the even tenor of their way, knowing that "the people" have taken the "bit in their teeth" and that their next Governor when he goes into office will be obliged to none of the machine politicians. ## INFANT PRODIGES ARE DISCOVERED IN BRITAIN

(By Associated Press)
London, July 19—Infant prodigies are being discovered in England almost daily. Some connect this with the psychology of war. One of the youthful marvels is Pamela Bianco, a thirteen year old girl artist, whose drawings were given the place of honor in an exhibition at one of the principal London galleries. Critics dealt with them quite seriously, and said that the work was suggestive of Botticelli and some of the other old masters. Pamela is an Italian girl who was born in England, and never had taken any drawing lessons.

Ronnie Routledge, four years old, little more than a baby, whose parents know nothing of music, has enjoyed six months of tuition on the violin. At the Grimsby College of Violinists recently he outranked forty three competitors, most of them in the twenties and scored 119 points in a possible 120. Professor Danton describes him as a miracle.

Little Bobbie Day, aged seven, of Brighton, son of a motor mechanic, has wonderful powers of clairvoyance, according to the weekly dispatch. Blindfolded he described a number of articles. (Giving its color, numbers, and writing on the back) the color and texture of a piece of fabric he had never seen, the correct answer to a complicated sum in mental arithmetic, and figures written down at random.

After five minutes test he complained of feeling icy cold. "I just see little pictures, and I just say them," is Bobbie's explanation.

RICHMOND, KENTUCKY

nothing to prevent this whole community from coming out to each service as that is the only way we may expect to derive the greatest good from the service.

Bro. Ross will fill his regular appointment at Republican next Sunday, come out and hear him.

The Widows and Orphans home of the Christian church at Louisville are planning to enlarge their buildings. We are glad to know that Mt. Pleasant, responded to the call that was given her. If each and every church will give the apportionment assigned them we are sure it will not be long until our old ladies and children will have ample room which is very much needed.

Bro. Ralph Hudspeth, of Texas, was in our community last week calling on the sick.

Mr. Richard McKee has greatly improved the looks of Mr. Mary Meek's home by adding a new front porch and painting the house.

Mrs. Sallie Langford left last Tuesday for Dry Ridge Springs, she will go from there to Armstrong, Missouri, to visit relatives and from there to Bloomington, Ill., to see other relatives and will return home about the first of September.

Mr. Madison Burgin will join Mrs. Langford at Dry Ridge Springs next Thursday and will accompany her to Missouri. From there he will go to Kansas City to visit his brother and will stay until the first of September.

Mrs. Gordon Burgin has been confined to her bed for the past week with erysipelas much to the regret of her many friends, but is somewhat better at present we are glad to know.

Mrs. Mattie Douglas, of Lexington, and Miss Mary Gibson, of Texas, are guests of Mr. Price Gumm.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Gumm had the pleasure of attending all the chautauqua exercises with the exception of one program. We are quite sure they were well repaid for the time they gave to these splendid lectures and other entertainments.

There have been three weddings of late in our community: Mr. Nathan McQueen, of Indianapolis, Ind. and Miss Elsie McQueen; Mr. George Bently and Miss Birdie Dozier; and Miss Leilah Hall and James Crawford. We wish for all three couples a bright future.
